NOTICE OF LOST OR STOLEN WORKS OF ART

Three Egyptian sculptures were shipped from The Cleveland Museum of Art on October 1, 1992, to the Edward Merrin Gallery in New York via Emery Worldwide and never arrived.

The attached reward flyer identifies the three sculptures: a granite head, 5-1/2 inches high, from about 1300 BC; a black diorite head, 7-1/2 inches high, from the fourth century BC; and a bronze mirror with a molded handle in the shape of a god, 12-3/4 inches high, that dates to about 1450 BC.

A reward of up to $50,000 is being offered on behalf of the insurers by Maxson Young Associates, Inc., for the safe return of these three lost or stolen Egyptian antiquities and/or any information leading to their recovery and apprehension, arrest, and conviction of the person(s) responsible for their disappearance.
